MADE AT MICHIGAN. LEADING GLOBALLY.

STUDENTS WHO GRADUATE WITH AN ARCHITECTURE DEGREE from the University of Michigan start their career with employers across the U.S. and abroad. The education of an architect opens up many possibilities and doors. Many graduates go to architecture firms of various sizes and project types; they may later choose to go on to become licensed architects and/or to manage, own or start a firm. Some graduates pursue careers in related disciplines like construction management, real estate development, engineering or planning. Others become designers for companies that specialize in experiential architecture, UI/UX, or product design.
