

University of Michigan, Taubman College of Architecture and Urban Planning
Instructor: John McMorrough, Ph.D. (jdmii@umich.edu)
Meetings: Wednesdays 1:00-4:00 PM 2227 A&AB

ARCH 533: Possible Worlds spaceships

Possible Worlds describes the meaning and means of worldmaking in relation to scale and genre through selected readings and examples (from architecture, as well as films, games, and other stories). Course participants each make an analytical case study of an assigned "world" as a term-length research project.

In studying designs of imagination, this class explores the realism of otherworldly proposals.